

What is a Defibrillator?

If a person's heart has stopped or is not beating properly call 999

A defibrillator can be used to give an electrical shock to the heart.

To try and save the person's life

Anyone can use a defibrillator

You do not need to be trained because it comes with instructions

Defibrillators can be found in different places including:

Shopping centres

Community buildings

Train stations

CPR

By performing CPR you give someone the best chance of survival